Designed in consultation with women physicians, Ovulation Calendar Pro is a powerful software that calculates the date of ovulation and generates your personal fertility calendar. You will simply need to enter the length of your menstrual cycle as well as the date of your last period, and the application will calculate your fertile days. The fertile days are displayed on the fertility calendar with a red background and with a message indicating whether you are fertile or not. The fertile days can be marked in red. You can also enter any day on your calendar as a due date and therefore remove it from the list of days that are considered fertile. You can also specify the baby's gender using the sex options. You can add any remaining days to the pregnancy and calculate their due date. The following features are included in Ovulation Calendar Pro: ⬜ The length of your menstrual cycle can be entered as the number of days from the start of the menstrual cycle to the start of the next one (the length of the menstrual cycle in days). ⬜ The date of the start of your last menstrual cycle can be entered as a date. You will receive a message that informs you that ovulation has occurred. ⬜ You can view and highlight the days of your cycle and then mark them as fertile or non-fertile. You can mark them in red, green, or blue. I had no idea that I could do that. I was surprised to find that in the documentation. No doubt the default keybindings are not optimal, but I simply want to know all the available keybindings. I have read the overview and the docs, but they don't list them all. Is there a comprehensive list anywhere? A: Some of those will be in Default/User/Default.sublime-keymap: { "keys": ["ctrl+k"], "command": "copy_to_clipboard" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+alt+k"], "command": "cut_to_clipboard" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+alt+alt+k"], "command": "copy_to_clipboard" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+shift+alt+k"], "command": "cut_to_clipboard" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+alt+shift+k"], "command": "copy_to_clipboard" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+k"], "command": "toggle_left_margin" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+alt+k"], "command": "toggle_right_margin" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+shift+k"], "command": "toggle_right_margin" }, { "keys": ["ctrl+alt+shift+k"], "command": "toggle_left_margin" }, The full list is in the package Default/User/dict.sublime-keymap A: To my knowledge, there is no comprehensive list of keybindings in Sublime Text 2. For a rather long time, the only comprehensive keybinding list available was a page created by Johannes Schiffer. The site has been offline for a while, but according to the author, a screen recording of the page is available. I cannot find the video anymore. Aside from Johannes Schiffer's work, I also found a list of commands which can be bound to a given key. The binding of commands is disabled by default. 【IMF 【【【【【【【【】◆ 09e8f5149f
